NEW ROUTE OPENED

SAND REPLACED WITH PAVEMENT—EASIER ACCESS TO VERDUGO CANYON

A direct outlet to the city's traffic on the north was opened yesterday with the completion of North Glendale avenue from First street to Verdugo road. This section of road has long been the bug-bear of the motorist, who has heretofore usually preferred to take a more roundabout route to Verdugo Canyon.

The greater part of the traffic on the Verdugo Canyon road goes through Glendale. This new boulevard will not only be an unestimable benefit to those who travel between Glendale and the inland valley points but it will also bring the tourists through the heart of our fair city. A great many people who have traveled through our city limits are only acquainted with Colorado boulevard.

City officials have long recognized the need of paving North Glendale avenue. Only a lack of funds, and the fact that so many urgent needs are always at hand have stood in the way of this improvement.

The new thoroughfare runs through one of the most beautiful sections of our valley, bordered by fields of flowers, orange groves and sycamore woods. Glendale motorists will enjoy an inspection of the road.

FIRE DEPARTMENT MAKES RECORD RUN

While drilling in front of the fire house on Broadway Wednesday evening the Glendale Fire Department received a call from North Glendale to Dryden street between Melrose and San Rafael. The boys made a quick run but found a large brush fire, which had evidently alarmed someone in the vicinity who had sent in the call. Had there been a serious call the department would have given a good account of itself as the nine members of the fire team were all on the job and ready for an emergency.

HOLIDAY TRADE GOOD

Glendale merchants report that this season's holiday sales far exceed that of any other previous Christmas. This is as it should be as Glendale is rapidly forging ahead as a retail center. It is needless to say that the stores who are enjoying increased patronage are advertisers in the Evening News. Glendale people are generally willing to trade at home when they can secure their needs at a local store, particularly if the store gives proper publicity to the stock carried.

IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Word has been received by Mrs. C. Berge of 825 Lomita avenue that Prof. Dungan of Glendale, who recently sustained a broken hip bone on the voyage to the Orient, is in a critical condition in the hospital at Honolulu. His son, Dr. Arthur Dungan of Denver has been called to his side.

DEATH OF KIYOMI SUYEDA

Kiyomi Suyeda, wife of Yonezo Snuyeda, died at her home, 609 West Eighth street Thursday morning, December 21 at the age of 23 years. Funeral services will be held at the chapel of the Scovern-Letton-Frey Undertaking company, Friday morning at 11 o'clock. The remains will be cremated at the Los Angeles crematory.

CALIFORNIA MILITARY CAMP

The United States military training camp for California will be held in Santa Barbara next summer, according to information received at Santa Barbara from Gen. J. Franklin Bell. A tract of 600 acres west of the city has already been secured. The next camp will be held in two sections it is understood. of thirty days each, the first to open about the middle of June. The government has provided, since the camp at Monterey last summer, that citizens who participate shall have all expenses paid, this to include transportation.

MRS. FINK RETURNS TO LODI

Mrs. C. H. Fink of Lodi, California, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fink of South Maryland avenue has returned to her northern home. Mrs. Fink recently returned from a trip through the frozen East and was more than glad to reach Southern California.

CITY DIRECTORY

NEW BOOK OF REFERENCE TO CONTAIN VALUABLE FEATURES

The work in compiling the Glendale City Directory for 1917 is nearly completed. The book will comprise about 320 pages. In the first part of the book will be given a brief history of Glendale including an account of the municipal, educational, religious, fraternal and civic organizations. The body of the book will be taken up with the names of the residents of Glendale, Casa Verdugo, and Tropico, given in alphabetical order. The names of the children will be given in connection with the parents' names. In the last part of the book, there will be a new feature, the householders' department in which will be given the names of residents of the city and their street numbers, the names of the streets being given in alphabetical order and the residences in the order of their numbers. The directory will be substantially and neatly bound and will be sold at $2 per copy. Persons wishing to secure copies of this valuable book of reference should leave their order at the office of the Glendale Evening News or phone Sunset 132; Home 2401.

TEACHERS ASSOCIATION IN SESSION

Between 4000 and 5000 teachers from the schools of Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, and Los Angeles counties and the Long Beach, Riverside, Pomona, San Diego, Santa Ana, Santa Monica, Pasadena, Glendale and other nearby city schools are in Los Angeles, joining the Los Angeles city teachers in the 24th annual session of the Southern section of the California Teachers' Association, which opened on Thursday and continues in session until Saturday afternoon. The sessions are being held at the Temple auditorium. Dr. Albert Shiels, superintendent of the Los Angeles schools, is presiding. In addition, sessions for the different divisions are being held in a number of school auditoriums, each in charge of competent educators.

In addition to the regular sessions, addresses will be made at all of the centers by Dr. E. B. Bryan, president of Colgate college; Dr. Walter A. Jessup, president of the University of Iowa, and other noted educators. Madame Schumann-Heink and other soloists will appear in concert for the entertainment of the teachers.

ONTARIO AND UPLANDS POULTRY SHOW

The fourth annual show of the Ontario and Upland Poultry and Pigeon Association, which opened a 3-day session at Ontanio today promises to be one of the biggest events of the kind held in the county. The entries are more varied than usual, and there is a larger number of entries than at any other show.

Southern California people are just beginning to realize the possibilities of the poultry industry in this section, and the show now in progress should do much to encourage others to engage in poultry as a lucrative side line.

ORPHEUM PARTY

Christmas evening is the date set for a theater party at the Orpheum at which members of Glendale's younger set will celebrate the yuletide.

T. Beach, Montgomery Cole, Percy McIntyre, Vardman Bailey, I. S. Brown, Olin Wilson and Owen Dibbern.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. COLORADO TO HELP ITS LAWMAKERS.

By United Press.

DENVER, COLO., Dec. 21.—Members of the legislature who convene here in January will use the first state bill-drafting department in the United States. Attorney General-elect Leslie E. Hubbard has set aside part of his office staff for the use of legislators desiring to draft bills but unfamiliar with technical language. This service is free. Legislators today are taking advantage of the bureau. Among the bills being drafted are a stringent amendment to the prohibition law, a usury law and a strong amendment to the mothers' compensation act.

TEN MILLION DOLLARS FOR RUSSIAN RELIEF

By United Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—How to get Ten Million Dollars to save Five Million Jews from perishing in German occupied portions of Russia is the task of a conference of prominent Jews from all over the United States at Carnegia Hall here today.

The decision to raise this amount in addition to the $6,000,000 already sent to relieve the suffering Jews in Russia was made following the report of Dr. Judah L. Magnes, who went there from New York to investigate.

Thedore Marburg, Louis Marshall, Nathan and Oscar S. Straus, Jacob H. Schiff, Henry Morganthau, Dr. Cyrus Adler and others will be present today.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR PENNSYLVANIA TEAM

Shower baths aboard a transcontinental train will be installed for the use of the University of Pennsylvania football eleven which leaves Philadelphia, Pa., on December 22, for Pasadena, to meet the University of Oregon in the Tournament of Roses football game.

The Pennsylvania team will come by special train accompanied by one hundred students and will enjoy a daily stop for a hard signal workout, followed by shower baths on the train. Twenty-six players and four coaches will be in the football party proper. Three special cars will be provided for their use.

Nine members of the Pennsylvania team own their own motor cars. The team did its final practicing for the Cornell game, which it won Thanksgiving day by a score of 23 to 3, at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club, near Philadelphia. It is estimated that $25,000 was wagered on the Cornell game by Pennsylvania adherents and the team members showed their confidence in themselves by supplying nearly $5,000 to be risked on the outcome of the game.

The Olympic Club of San Francisco, has extended an invitation to the Pennsylvania team and undergraduates accompanying it to make the club their headquarters while in California.

BURBANK INSTALLS FIRE SIREN

That all the citizens of Burbank may know when there is a fire and all members of the volunteer fire department know when they are needed, a siren, which can be easily heard throughout the entire city has been installed.

CURRENT TOPICS

MOTION PICTURES OF FLOATS—CHRISTMAS STORY HOUR—QUOIT CONTEST

One of the greatest opportunities for advertising our city ever presented in Southern California is afforded in the Tournament of Roses floral parade at Pasadena on New Year's day, January 1, 1917.

Vast publicity will be obtained through the fact that colored motion pictures will be taken of every entry in the parade and will be, later on, exhibited to millions of people in all parts of the world.

The colored motion pictures are to be made by a large New York company which recently made a great success of colored motion pictures of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado river. Flowers, horses and the costumes of those in the parade will appear in the film in their natural colors, and will be taken against natural backgrounds of flowers and trees so as to give the residents of the snowy East as favorable an idea as possible of Southern California's wonderful midwinter climate.

CHRISTMAS STORY HOUR

Among the many joys the holidays bring to the little ones, the children of Glendale are looking forward to the story hour at the library on Saturday morning. Mrs. Danford has prepared something special and appropriate to the season and invites all the children of Glendale under twelve years of age to be her guests at that time. This hour will be well spent. Not only will the children be entertained but they will hear something worth while. Mrs. Danford is expecting all the children who attended the summer story hour and many others.

PLAY QUOITS

Before a large crowd of spectators the Glendale Quoits club bit the dust yesterday to the tune of Pomona.

The game was hard-fought and exciting, and at no time was it certain which side would be victorious. The final score was 27 to 23.

The Quoits clubs of Pasadena, Long Beach, Pomona and Glendale are planning to form a league in order that a regular schedule of games may be worked out.

DEATH OF FREDERICK D. MOHR

Frederick D. Mohr passed away at 4 a. m. at 209 East First street, Glendale, Wednesday, December 20. He leaves to mourn his loss two daughters, Miss Eva Mohr of Covina, Cal., and Miss Alba Mohr of Lawernsville, Ill. Funeral services will be held from the chapel of Scovern-Letton-Frey Co., Friday, December 22, at 2:30 p. m. Interment at Forest Lawn cemetery.

MRS WOODS MOVES

Owing to her editorial duties on the Rural World, which necessitates much literary work in her private study, Mrs. Nanno Woods has arranged to transfer her real estate business to her own home 1222 Milford street where she will fit up a combination office and library. She will continue to be actively engaged in real estate, dropping all rentals, and confining her energies to sales. Listings may be made by phone or letter, Sunset, Glendale 394. Her office at 1111 Broadway will be occupied by a representative of the Great Western Improvement company.

Mrs. Woods states that she will miss her Broadway office very much from a civic point of view, as the office has been used for a year and more by stranger and resident alike as an information bureau and headquarters for all kinds of civic welfare work. What she has heard and learned during this time would fill many large volumes.

The removal of her office does not mean that her civic interest will wane nor her welfare energies diminish. Indeed, Mrs. Woods will now have increased time to devote to the civic welfare of Glendale. The Bird and Flower club will continue to meet as usual every Saturday at 11:45 at 1111 Broadway, beginning with the first Saturday in January. The Glendale Garden Society interests, the six Floral Shows announced for 1917, the Civic Recreation Center Campaign and all other movements fo rthe benefit of the city will be prosecuted as enthusiastically and systematically as ever.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1916.

WHY NOT TELL THE TRUTH?

Several citizens of Glendale approached the editor on the street Thursday forenoon and asked him why he does not come out with a clear statement in his paper, telling just why the bond election did not carry, Tuesday. The editor of the Evening News is not guessing at conclusions. Everybody knows who read the report of the vote in Wednesday's paper that the citizens of Glendale were extremely indifferent on the question, and why this indifference is left for some one other than the editor of the Evening News to guess at. People are too indifferent upon many important questions.

The Evening News always stands out in the open ready to attend any meeting that is called for the good of the Glendale community. If there is anyone at any time has anything good to present that will aid in the upbuilding of our city, the Evening News stands ready to give it publicity.

There is such a thing as always being ready to assist with the work at hand in the most available way, and that is the plan upon which the editor of the News got his early education. There is no need of a newspaper guessing as to reasons for this and that, for it lies in anybody's power to make a poor guess.

If there had been a $50,000 fire in Glendale the day before the election, and if a dozen lives had been lost in that fire, 4,000 people would have voted on Tuesday and 3,600 of that number would have voted for the bonds.

It will take great loss of property and the sacrifice of human lives to wake up the indifferent ones in Glendale. No little $500 fire will bring the people of this community together on municipal questions,—it will take a big blaze, one that will burn off the big eyebrows and warm up the heart,— yes, it will require a real big blaze.

TO ENCOURAGE HOME INDUSTRY

The encouragement of Home Industry is being fostered by an organization known as the Home Industry League of California. The league has fostered and will conduct a series of Home Product expositions in interior towns of California beginning early next year. Every factory owner will be urged to prepare an exhibit for these "rotating" exhibitions, and special inducements will be made to have all displays embrace working demonstrations of the various lines of business. It is expected these exhibits will include all lines of manufacture from cotton picking in the Imperial valley to the building of California bungalows exclusively out of California materials and the construction of automobiles from parts all made in this state.

The Home Industry League expects to, and undoubtedly will, surprise the public by these expositions which have the aim of educating the people of the state into a realization of how great are the state's resources, to induce capital to locate more factories in California and to popularize the buying of goods made at home. It is pointed out by the league that the residents of the state are so little informed of the state's industrial resources that many Californians are sending east for their soap and shoes, for example, while the United States government is sending all the way from Washington for shoes and soap to be delivered to New York, Boston and Newport News.

California's great lack is manufactories, and any effort that will encourage manufacturing here, as well as a proper appreciation of those we already have, is a movement that deserves the cooperation of the general public.

RED CROSS SEALS AND TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis, the great scourge, the product of the ills of civilization, is particularly prominent at this time of the year, the beginning of the season when most of its victims die. It is paradoxical that at Christmas, when the world is making glad, when the New Year is being hailed with delight, that death should begin to claim its heaviest toll of victims among the tuberculous.

The Red Cross seals sold annually at Christmas and New Years help to provide some comfort and care for the tuberculous. Every seal that is sold helps to make life a little easier for one of these afflicted with the "Great White Plague."

When the world reaches an ideal stage of civilization, when all of the tuberculous are cared for, when housing conditions are made perfect, when all earn good wages and are well supplied with good food, when there is less ignorance and more education, then this bane of civilization may be banished. Meanwhile as we advance it is no more than right that aid be given to the unfortunate victims of the disease, and by purchasing the Red Cross seals such relief is provided and the world is made a little happier at this holiday season.

INVESTIGATORS INCREASE COST OF LIVING

State and federal governments have hundreds of politicians who are jumping into prominence to "probe the high cost of living." The Federal Relations Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission and Congress itself are all taking a hand. Millions will be spent in an effort to reveal the causes of the advancing cost of the necessaries of life, but when all is said and done, will the reports reveal the real causes, and if they do what benefit will be derived from them for the poor consumer who is staggering under the burden of high prices?

In the late campaign all parties promised higher wages for labor and higher prices for products of the farm. Higher prices for the necessaries of existence are promised the farmers, higher wages are guaranteed by labor leaders. Manufacturers, railroads, bankers, wholesale and retail dealers and middlemen add their profits and margins and the consumer pays the bill. There is no wonder that the cost of living is increasing and we need no high salaried commissions to tell us the cause.

CHINESE LANDSCAPE PAINTING

Chinese landscape painting is "a thing apart" from the landscape painting of other countries, in the judgment of Prof. Frank Jewett Mather, Jr., of Princeton. "Occidental landscape has never fully emancipated itself," he says, "from the requirement that it should be a record of facts, hence, since large and comprehensive record is impossible, it has tended to limit itself to the picturesque bit. Our artists mostly prefer the thing that can be quite fully remembered and represented. A restricted kind of intimacy is their ideal. Now, the Chinese landscape-painter, dealing primarily with feelings about nature, naturally chose those espects that evoke feeling most powerfully. Great expanses of plain rimmed by looming mountains, ravines widening out to river valleys, perilous gorges, were his favorite themes. The long scrolls upon which some of the earlier landscapes are painted represent, in a single work, nature in many aspects. One may unroll gradually and with great delight quiet rivers with boating-parties, gardens with the pavilions of the rich, arable velds, temples, and usually there will be a mountain screen behind these foreground subjects, gaunt and formidable against the sky. As one plies the rolls, picture succeeds picture in modulations expressing so many phases of the love of nature. I hardly know an occupation more soothing, more evocative of reverent contemplation, than such converse with a landscape roll of a good period. Such apparently naive art prevails, in virtue of fine selection and prudent elimination, withal by concentration upon the significant facts of landscape—its scale and proper magnitude, the run of rivers, the passing of winds.

"Repeatedly the Chinese artists give us the simple theme of a hermit sage shadowed by a lone tree and seated in contemplation of sublime scenery. These tiny philosophers often choose the brink of abysses for their meditations, or gorges cooled by the spray of cataracts. What is remarkable in these pictures is the impregnation of the whole with the mood of the small figure. The balance of the contours of the ravine the outreaching of trees from the crags, will seem merely the projection of the thinker's mood, or, conversely, he may be regarded as the incarnation of the spirit of the place. Such equilibrium between mood and fact is exquisitely maintained by the great Chinese painters.

"Early Chinese art offers as well landscape of a more literal sort . . . But here again the work was permeated with mood. Take the 'Summer Landscape' in Viscount Okitomo's collection ascribed to Kao Janhui. Nothing could be simpler than its ingredients. A cascade bordered by dark firs slips down in a double curve and forms a quiet pool. High above, beyond intervening mists, the shaggy shoulder of a mountain takes up the double curve, and loses it again in the upper vapors. . . . To a beginner in this art I especially recommend this beautiful painting."

HIS ROOM

This is his room. Let no one enter here
Who enters not with brave-eyed cheerfulness;
What though its silence wound thy heart anew,
And each dear object mock thy loneliness;
What though the patient place his image lack,
Is grief so selfish it would call him back?
This is his room. Let no one enter here
Who comes not in with loving cheerfulness.

Aye, this is still his room. Turn not away
Till in thy heart is sweet assurance born
That hence his presence has but seemed to fade,
As some soft star fades in the blue of morn,
And that his spirit hovers here to bless
Our aching hearts with soothing tenderness.
This is his room. Turn not away until
Praise, love and cheer are in thy heart newborn.

"Puck" recently offered George Bernard Shaw a contract for twelve articles. On November 7th he replied, saying, "my articles for America are longer and more ponderous than the sort of thing you need. You want young men with light hands, and light purses, not spoilt elderly gentlemen who expect to be paid immoderately for being dull."

LA CANADA

However cold the wind may be
However bad you may feel
May this Xmas be
The happiest you have ever felt.

Mrs. A. G. Williams is expecting her sister, Mrs. Welsh from Three Rivers to spend the Xmas holidays.

The La Canada Valley Improvement association held their regular monthly meeting Saturday evening, December 16 at 8 p. m. The evening was enjoyed immensely, because of the entertaining features. The evening was spent with Charles Dickens. A great number of people took part in the pantomine, which was very entertaining. Mr. and Mrs. Granger arranged for this wonderful program and it is hoped in the near future to have another interesting program. An added attraction was the Xmas tree and it was loaded with popcorn balls for everyone. The Xmas spirit prevailed throughout.

Foreman Charles B. Youel has charge of the road work in La Canada for a while during the absence of Assistant Foreman B. J. Kirst, who has gone on his annual vacation. A crew of men have been putting a bulls-head on Roy avenue, which will be needed very much, when the rain begins. Rapid progress is being made on Roy and Texas streets, curbs and gutters are all in and these streets will soon be ready for the finishing touches.

Mr. Russel Stickney was home on a few day's visit last week. He will soon leave on a four months' cruise and will not be home very soon again.

The school house is showing up now, and will soon be ready to be occupied. Some of the beautiful trees in the school yard are being pulled out, which a number of the people dislike to see. These trees are beautiful as well as useful.

Messrs. Samuel and Harlan Durand have been fortunate enough to make the first debating team in the G. U. H. S. These boys went up against Pomona two weeks ago and lost, but last Friday won from Santa Ana. These young men will accomplish something in the future by their oratory in the high school at the present time.

Mr. Shannon Wagner of Perris Valley who formerly resided in our valley has returned here to stay for awhile.

Messrs. Valiant and Harold Frye who have spent the last four months on the border were in the valley Sunday visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cecil and family spent Friday in the valley visiting their former neighbors.

Mrs. Hilyard, better known as Clara Gudlrian, is rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter. Mother and child have returned to Antelope Valley and both are enjoying the best of health.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Knight and family and Mrs. Murray are occupying at present the house owned by Mr. H. L. Cooper on the corner of Roy and Craig avenues.

The P. T. A. held their meeting Friday afternoon. A large number were present and a very pleasing program was prepared by the children of the school. A Xmas tree was very conspicuous with its decorations and candy, popcorn balls, etc. Santa Claus even arrived on time for the occasion, which added much to the entertainment of the afternoon. After the program the usual business of the P. T. A. was transacted and a tea hour was enjoyed at the close of the afternoon.

Do not forget the entertainment to be given at the church Saturday evening, December 23. Everyone is invited. A program will be given. A Xmas tree will be another main feature and last but by no means the least will be the manger where every one can bring a gift, however large or small, and leave in this place to be distributed to the Orphans Home and other institutions later. What! Do not forget the Xmas manger and the Xmas program! Where? At the church! When? Saturday, Dec. 23, at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Will Hood is in Pasadena at the present time. She was called on account of her mother's illness. She is very low and is unconscious. But there is some hope for her recovery.

The stage from Flintridge to Pasadena started this week. It gives hourly service and will be very accommodating to many people. This stage will bring many new buyers and visitors to our beautiful valley.

Miss Dorothy Lester is now attending Potts Business College in Pasadena.

Mrs. S. P. Durand and Mrs. J. H. Armstrong attended the debate at the G. U. H. S. last Friday afternoon.

Thursday Club's December Meeting.

Mrs. James T. Penfield, president, was hostess at the December meeting of the La Canada Thursday club at her home in Hilliard avenue when a large attendance assembled to listen to the very delightful program presented. Contrary to the usual custom the program contained but one study topic, the remainder of the afternoon being given over to story reading, games, music and merry conversation. This year the main topic of study is "Our Island Possessions," the subject for December being "Cuba," which Mrs. R. B. Waterman discussed in most interesting fashion. Mrs. Max Green read Kate Douglas Wiggin's latest story, "The Romance of a Christmas Card," the charm of her beautiful voice captivating her listeners as always. An entertaining and informing feature of the afternoon was the roll-call, the response being Christmas Customs, which brought forth many little stories of how the great Natal Day is celebrated in other lands. Mrs. Penfield, with Mrs. D. B. Scott accompanying, sang Gruber's Christmas hymn, "Stille Nacht, heilige Nacht." Refreshments suggestive of the Yuletide were handed round by little Misses Roma Penfield and Florence Pate. Christmas bells, ribbons and blossoms decorated the rooms. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Granger in School street.

Improvement Association

The president of the Improvement association would hereby express appreciation and thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Granger who prepared the program for the last meeting, who furnished refreshments gratis, and were ably assisted by Mrs. Max Green. With twenty or more others they gave a delightful entertainment consisting of readings and impersonations of Chas. Dickens' characters. This unusually interesting meeting was very largely attended.

PRES. IMPROVEMENT ASSN.

Thursday Club

The last meeting of the La Canada Thursday club, held last week Thursday, was one of the most pleasant sessions of the year. The attendance was large. Mrs. James T. Penfield, the president, with her usual cordial hospitality was hostess at her home on Hilliard avenue. A part of the business consisted of a vote to extend an expression of sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Knight, in view of the loss of their beautiful residence on Haskell street at three o'clock that morning. It had been one of the best buildings in La Canada valley during the last twenty-one years. They are living at present in Pasadena. Mrs. Knight was one of the originators of the Thursday club, which was organized over three years ago. It was also voted to give a kitchen shower to Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Knight, who were occupying the house at the time of the fire and who lost nearly everything therein. Mrs. A. N. Guidinger and Mrs. E. H. Brooks were appointed a publicity committee to see that the club meetings were well reported in the various papers. The responses to the roll call were full of interest concerning the Christmas customs of all nations. The third of the series of papers on our island possessions was read by Mrs. Robert Waterman. It was highly instructive and enjoyed by all. This was followed by a Christmas story, by Kate Douglas Wiggin, the "Romance of a Christmas Card." It was read by Mrs. Max Green in her usual attractive manner. The word critic's report by Mrs. E. H. Brooks was listened to with marked attention. After this all participated in a guessing contest to discover hidden bells, which resulted in the awarding of the first prize to Mrs. Albert Lester, the second to Mrs. Chas. McDonald. During the social hour delicious refreshments were served and the members of the club separated, expressing to the hostess and one another the best wishes of the season.

PRESS COMMITTEE.

ON A REDBREAST SINGING IN THE GROVE OF ACADEME

The rose of gloaming everywhere!
And through the silence cool and sweet
A song falls through the golden air
And stays my feet—
For there! . . .
This very moment surely I have heard
The sudden, swift, incalculable word
That takes me o'er the foam
Of these empurpling, dim Ionian seas
That takes me home
To where
Far on an isle of the far Hebrides
Sits on a spray of gorse a little home-sweet bird. . . .
It is as though I am unloosed by hands:
My heart aches for the gray-green seas
That hold a lonely isle
Far in the Hebrides,
An isle where all day long
The redbreast's song
Goes fluting on the wind o'er lonely sands.
So beautiful, so beautiful
Is Hellas, here.
. . . . . .
But yet more sweet, more beautiful, more dear
The secret tides of memory and thought
That link me to the far-off shore
For which I long—
Greece, Plato, and the Academe forgot
For a robin's song!

—Fiona Macleod.

THE THING YOU WERE TAUGHT

The tyranny of the thing a man is taught often ruins his life. It takes a bigger man than most men are to break away from the teachings of ones youth. But one of the tests of being right is teachableness and an enquiring mind. The man who does not bring the teachings of his youth into court to be investigated has missed the mark of real manliness.

My ancestor was a Democrat. He was taught that the Democratic party was the only party with merit. He spent his life anathamizing the Republicans, and yet he could not tell why he was a Democrat nor what was the matter with the Republicans. Like a parrot he said what he was taught and said it so many times he was sure it was eternal truth.

My ancestor's brother was a Methodist. He was taught that all other Denominations were wrong and without Biblical warrant. He accepted that and died a Methodist and suspicious to the last that Congregationalists and Presbyterians were not good people.

My uncle was a Baptist to whom the gate of heaven was under the surface of a river or lake or big pool of water. His mother had told him that and he died believing that.

And that is the way with the world. Men allow the teachings of their youth to fossilize and then worship the product for eternal, unchangable truth. And that is what is the matter with humanity.

Men will not think. They prefer to worship the empty think tanks of their fathers. The way out of the present wickedness, error, and misery of the world is short and not so very difficult if men will only become teachable and honestly try to use their powers to lay hold of truth. No man is great till he can dig himself up by the roots and transplant himself into better soil if that be necessary to his full growth into manhood.—Artesia News.

I REMEMBER, I REMEMBER

(1916 Version)

I remember, I remember,
The house where I was born;
The little window where the sun
Came peeping in at morn.
You'd hardly know the old place now
For dad is up to date
And the farm is scientific
From the back lot to the gate.

The house and barn are lighted
With bright acetylene,
The engine in the laundry
Is run by gasoline.
We have silos, we have autos,
We have dynamos and things;
A telephone for gossip,
And a phonograph that sings.

The hired man has left us,
We miss his homely face;
A lot of college graduates,
Are working in his place.
There's an engineer and fireman,
A chauffeur and a vet,
'Lectrician and mechanic—
Oh, the farm's run right you bet.

The little window where the sun
Came peeping in at morn
Now brightens up a bath room
That cost a car of corn.
Our milkmaid is pneumatic
And she's sanitary too;
But dad gets fifteen cents a quart
For milk that once brought two.

LA CRESCENTA

Mrs. A. W. Brown enjoyed a days' visit with her cousin, Mrs. G. J. Smith of Gramercy Drive, Los Angeles.

Miss Margaret Hauber has made her vacation quite profitable by securing a position with a Los Angeles department store.

Mr. Riley returned Sunday to his home at Montrose after being absent for treatment in the Good Samaritan Hospital.

Announcement

All members of the La Crescenta Dancing Club please keep in mind that the last quarterly dance will be given next Saturday evening, December 30, instead of the first Saturday in January, at the Auditorium. The same musicians who proved so satisfactory at the last dance have been secured again. Coffee and sandwiches will be sold under the auspices of the Crescenta Womans' Club.

Anyone desiring to join or rejoin the dancing club for the next quarter will receive membership cards by presenting their name and dues to the officers of the club; Mrs. A. C. Cobb, Mrs. E. N. Nettleton and Mrs. Joe Hawkins.

A subscription list, headed by Mrs. D. E. Weatherbee, is being taken toward providing a "Crokinole" board as an additional amusement for the young people, at the Crescenta library.

Mrs. E. N. Nettleton enjoyed a visit from Mrs. Dewey of La Canada Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Joe Hawkins and family are anticipating a visit from Mr. Hawkins' two brothers who will arrive today from Lindsay, Cal. to pass the holidays with them.

It is announced that the next Improvement Association meeting will be held Friday evening, January 5. (First Friday in January)

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fahey will have the pleasure of enjoying Christmas with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. Sanfair of South Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Woolsey of Inyo County, Cal. have moved into a cottage on Montrose and Los Angeles ave. Mrs. Woolsey is a sister of Mrs. Evans.

Little Frances Grey, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Grey now living at Claremont is quite ill with the measles which she caught last week, according to a letter received by Mrs. Weatherbee.

It is reported that Mr. White has given up his grocery store so that he may place all of his time to giving music lessons, which was his life's work before coming to Crescenta.

At the last meeting of the directors of the Goss Canyon Water Co. the secretary handed in his resignation and Rev. Theodore Hopping was appointed for said office.

The Goss Canyon Water Co. has made another assessment of $1.50 per share to carry on the work of sinking a well in their canyon for water. They are down now 140 feet and hope to strike water at less than 200 feet. Mr. C. J. Anderson has charge of the work.

Mrs. Marian C. Hartman.

The friends and neighbors of Mrs. Marian C. Hartman of Cedar street were shocked to learn of her sudden passing Sunday evening, December 17th, at about 8 o'clock. Mrs. Hartman had been ill for only a few days and her condition was not considered serious till Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clock when she suffered a stroke of apoplexy from which she did not rally. Only a short time before on December 4th, she reached her seventieth birthday anniversary. On that day she received a birthday cake from a dear friend in San Francisco and a number of her friends met with her and helped her celebrate. She was very happy on this occasion. As soon as the word of her illness reached them her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Hartman who live at Long Beach, hastened to her side. Everything possible was done for her relief but she could not respond to the efforts made. Marian Care Wyley was born near Edinburg, Scotland, December 4th, 1846. She came to New York when but five years old, where she resided for many years. On August 3, 1869 she was united in marriage with Christian Hartman. Eight children were born of this union, five of whom, with the father, have passed on before. Three sons remain, two of whom reside in Chicago and could not be with their mother. The third son, Eugene A., as has been stated was with her at the last. There are also four grandchildren remaining. Mrs. Hartman came here with her husband between three and four years ago to take up her residence. She loved her little mountain home and her friends and neighbors and was happy and content to abide here although her son was greatly concerned about her living here alone after her husband died more than a year ago. The funeral occurred Monday afternoon, December 18, 1916 at her home, Rev. W. H. Wieman officiating. Interment was made beside her husband in Rosedale cemetery, Los Angeles.

The old fashioned ice cream social and Victrola concert given at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Eckert, on Thursday evening last, for the benefit of the Woman's Guild, was a very pleasant and profitable affair. The large living room was decorated in the Guild colors, purple and white, petunias and ribbon streamers being used. A program, consisting of a variety of numbers on the Victrola and recitations by Miss Dolly Strachan was enthusiastically received. Selections on the zither by Capt. Eckert were greatly enjoyed. Later in the evening, through the courtesy of Mrs. Woodruff, president of The Colonial Dancing Club, the women of the Guild disposed of a large quantity of ice cream and cake at the dancing party, which the members of The Colonial Club were giving at the Club-house. Superintendent Fred Nelles of the Whittier State school is advocating the establishment of a vocational school at Whittier, the idea being to interest boys under 14 years of age who might otherwise drift into crime, in vocational education, thus saving them from the state reformatories and making desirable citizens of them. Vocational schools are in successful operation in one or two eastern states, but the work is new on the coast. Mr. Nelles was recently in conference with the State Board of Control and the legislative reference bureau at Sacramento. He is asking for $150,000 for new buildings for the school at Whittier and $40,000 for equipment.
